THE VANCE REMAINS

A LETTER OF MRS. FLORENCE S. VANCE.

light Upon the Unhappy Family Trop--Young Vance's General Denial.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 22,-(Special.) he Citizen to-day publishes a communiation from Charles N. Vance of more column and a half in length. It necessary, Mr. Vance says, in view of the editorial and special correspondence from Washington in the Charlotte Observer of last Sunday.

He denies that Mrs. Herndon, Senator Vance's sister, gave instructions for the first removal of the remains, as stated by the Observer. He denies what the Observer published editorially that Mrs. Vance had stated to him that she was willing if he desired that the body of his mother be placed by his father's side,

"Washington, D. C., 1627 Massachusetts avenue. It is my intention to have my usband's remains removed from their 48, in section K, where I propose other body shall ever be placed. Upon these conditions, after the removal, I shall deed the lot to the State of North

"FLORENCE S. VANCE, (Signed) "May 26, 1894."

ORIGINAL LETTER. Mr. Vance then says Major J. W. Wilson, of Morganton, N. C., has the original of this letter in the present Mrs. Vance's own handwriting, and those doubting its authenticity can satisfy themselves by reading it. The facts are these: Major Wilson came to Washington by request, us an old and long-time friend of my of these and the family to try to arrange father and the family, to try to arrange this matter in private; but, much to his disappointment and sorrow, as well as that of all others who felt an affectionate est in the matter, he failed to do so The letter above given was in reply to the following letter, which was written by me and addressed to Major Wilson, at his request and suggestion, after he had onference with Mrs. Vance

HE WAS MISTAKEN. He was satisfied it would be acceptable her, but her letter in reply shows at he was mistaken:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., May 25, 1894. Major J. W. Wilson, Metropolitan Hotel, Washington, D. C.: Washington, D. C.:
"Dear Sir,—Replying to your inquiries oncerning the removal of my father's smains from where they now rest to ome other place in the cemetery at Asheand held in trust by the State for this expose only; to hold the remains of my ather; second, to hold the remains of purpose only: to hold the remains of my father; second, to hold the remains of my mother; third, to hold the remains of my mother; third, to hold the remains of my lafant brother. Espy; no other person shall be buried therein. If these conditions are coinglied with, I have no objection to the reinterment of my father in such lot as may be selected and conveyed as aforesail. Furthermore, there will be no objection to the erection of a monument to roy father's memory by his widow. Let the deed, if made, be made to you, as trustee, for I am satisfied you will see to it that the agreement is

"CHARLES N. VANCE." HIS EARNEST DESIRE.

"Those that knew him in life will know without the relilion that this was his wish and carnest desire. My mother's remains will be placed by his side at the first convenient opportunity. The place where they now rest is open and exposed, and the removal will be made as early as tracticable. NO SUCH OFFER.

"As to the statement that the sons were told by the present Mrs. Vance that their matter could be placed leader that father in the lot purchased by her. I affirm most positively and solemnly that had been this trouble would never have is surprised at the action of the the statement at the statement and the statement at the s the removal be allowed, they should write Mrs. Vance saping she must "come in person or send an undertaker if she wished to carry out her plan, and stating by advice of the company's attorney that so interference with her action would be permitted." DENIES THE STATEMENT.

DENIES THE STATEMENT.

He comments at length and with a good deal of asperity upon the statement in the Washington correspondence that "Mrs. Vance acted in this matter according to her understanding of her rights as the wife of the late Senator, and in accordance with what she fully believed would have been his wishes and would please every relative and friend that he left," Denying that such was the fact, he closes as follows: I hope my father's friends throughou the State will understand and appreciate my position in this to me most unhappy controversy, and pardon the earnestness and final affection which impels me to strive to carry out his wishes and often-capressed desire. WIFE AND MOTHER.

When it is remembered that in his early life, when the red morning was breaking on his young manhood service he had a companion who like him was just entering upon the world's stage of action, who shared his hopes and ambition, his sorrows and his joys, who went hand in hand with him through the vicksitudes of the world was sometimes of trihand with him through the vicissitudes of many years—years sometimes of triumph, sometimes years of adversity, years sometimes of plenty, sometimes years of penury—who was not unduly elated by the one nor cast dowl by the other, but with Christian faith and heroic fortitude trusted in a Divine Providence for the best; she whose kith and kin had been his warm-hearted and loyal friends; whose blood was mingled with the blood of those whom in the dark and trying days of whom in the dark and trying days of the late war he had clothed, defonded, cheered, and protected while the were fighting for the honor and slory of their State, his wife-my moth long since departed and resting in a lonely grave hear the scenes of her early married life, is it to be wandered at or thought strange that he should express the wish and the desire that when he, too, should be laid to rest among the mountains he loved so well that the bride of his youth and the market of his world. and the mother of his children should rest by his side? Such was his wish; such was his desire, and now that he is dead and cannot act for himself I in-tend to set for him and see that his re-quest is complicated.

Quest is compiled with.
This is my apology for what I have done and what I intend to do, and neither "nonuments," "beautiful lots," her "commanding sites" can swerve I's from my duty to my father and his sacred memory. CHARLES N. VANCE.

sie here next Wednesday, Martin's own county people, in their convention at Tarboro', endorsed White. That virtually puts Martin out of the race. C. A. Cook. of Warrendon, has been endorsed by Edge-combe and Warren for solicitor on the Republican ticket. The Roanoke News here, in a very able editorial, strongly endorses Mr. W. E. Dahlel for solicitor on the Democratic side. Mr. Daniel is a fine lawyer, a life-long Democrat, and his name will add strength to the ticket should he receive the nomination.

Garygburg now has a fine base-ball team and a strong lettery. They expect to blay Hallfax. Sulcike, and other clubs here during the coming week.

PROSPERING SECTION.

In company with Captain J. P. Leach, your correspondent took a drive through the Littleton section yesteriay. The crops there are the finest for years, and they are clean and well cultivated. Captain Leach informed me that the people worked better than they had done for years, and that they had not run very deep into debt. He also said that the talk about a scarcity of money was nonsense. There is money enough; it only takes the right kind of security to get it.

THE CADET CAMP ILLUMINATED.

Illiant Scope Near the V. M. L. Honors by Rochbridge Students. LEXINGTON, VA., Jupe 22.—(Spe Military Institute, was filuminated and thrown open to the public last evening from 9 until 19:30 o'clock. The camp in from 9 until 19:30 o'clock. The camp in itself presented a beautiful appearance, Chinese lanterns were hung in the company streets, in front of the commandant's and cadet officers' tents, and along the walk between the camp and the parade ground. Hundreds of people visited the camp, and the cadets, with their young lady friends and parents, could be seen strolling about while sweet music was discoursed by the Post Band. The tents were thrown open, and presented a neat and orderly appearance, while the streets and sentinels' beats showed careful attention. The illuminations will be held from time to time during the encampment.
